

Town Council Hears Tonight Proposal For Health Nurse

Dr. Dales And Dr. Wesley Say Time Is Getting Ripe
For Health Nurse, Dr. Wesley Suggests Vote

Presided over by Mayor Dr. L. W. Dales, a public meeting to discuss a public health nurse for Newmarket, passed the following resolution, "That his worship the mayor bring this matter to the attention of the town council, confirming Dr. Wesley's approval for the employment of a public health nurse" in the town hall on Monday evening.

Dr. Dales invited the meeting, organized by the Home and School Association, to send a representative delegation to a town council meeting to be held this evening.

"The medical profession is solidly behind this proposal," said Dr. Dales. "There is no limit to the work a public health nurse could do along educational health lines."

Dr. Dales told of the numerous physical defects which a nurse would find among the school children. "I could go on for hours telling of the things which a nurse could accomplish," he said. "The next thing is to find the money to do it."

A delegation will appear before the council this evening, Mrs. Edwards stated.

"You are quite in step with many other centres who are considering adding to their health services," stated Miss Edna Moore, chief public health nurse of Ontario, in the principal address of the evening.

Mrs. J. C. R. Edwards, president of the Home and School Association, opened the meeting, explaining its purpose.

The Home and School Association had been alarmed at the absences from schools during the last year through sickness, she said. "The town is different now with the camp here, and the increased coming and going. This organization has sponsored the meeting with the approval of the Lions club, the Catholic Women's League, the Cherokee club, the Women's Institute and service groups in the churches."

Mrs. John West was named secretary of the meeting and Dr. L. W. Dales chairman.

"We have not thought very favorably of having a public health nurse, but the subject has been under consideration for some time and is getting warmer all the time," said Dr. J. H. Wesley, M.O.H., in introducing Miss Moore.

"I have been holding back, maintaining a neutral attitude," said Dr. Wesley. "The way things are looking now it is only a matter of time till all towns of this size will be proud to sponsor a health nurse. I would suggest that if the subject seems to be so popular with all organizations it should be passed on to the town council to be voted on at elections next December."

Miss Moore, in an interesting discussion of the work of the public health nurse, explained the set-up of the Ontario health services.

"The public health program has to be adapted to the needs of each community," she said. Miss Moore explained that the trend in public health today was toward a generalized public health service, under which all the branches of health were handled, rather than several separate specialized services. Thus the municipal nurse, she said, would have charge of health work with expectant mothers, infant care, pre-school care, tuberculosis cases, dental services and communicable diseases, as well as her work with school-age children.

"The bedside care provided by the nurse must be limited to emergencies or acute communicable diseases," she said.

"The school-age group unquestionably needs public health supervision, but to begin here is wasteful," said Miss Moore. "Sick children are not only retarded themselves but hold others back. The educational system is for well children. Cooperation between teachers, the public health nurse and interested parents could save a great deal of wasteage."

"Most parents are anxious to do what is best for their children, but the link is needed to show them what to do."

"Public health work is based on the family health unit. It is primarily informal teaching in the home."

"One of the important problems today is the control of tuberculosis. The situation in Canada is made more difficult by the migrations taking place because of the war, changing the original health picture of the individual community. The care of convalescent tuberculosis patients comes within the field

Cpl. Ted Hewson of Camp Borden spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hewson.

LAC Geale Hewson returned to Saskatoon on Sunday after spending the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hewson.

"Our secondary schools are giving us a lot of concern. Forty-four percent of recruits are physically unfit for service. What we do in the high school is important to our national defence, we are therefore working downwards, starting with those who are going to leave first."

"All these aspects of public health work can be greatly assisted by a public health nurse. The public health nurse studies for four years after matriculation and receives a certificate from a university, that is, in Ontario, the University of Toronto or the University of Western Ontario. Their salary scale compares with that of the high school teachers, but they work 11 months of the year, continuing their work during the summer."

Miss Moore said that Picton and Parry Sound had recently appointed nurses at $1,500 salaries. There would be a possible expenditure of $200 for initial equipment and supplies, she thought.

"Not many of us would want to be caught throwing garbage into our next-door neighbor's garden, but I submit that it is a much more despicable thing to allow our children to spread measles and whooping-cough germs to our neighbors' children, yet we do not seem to lose face doing this," she commented.

At the close of her address Miss Moore answered questions. "Newmarket is nearly an ideal municipality to be served by a public health nurse," she said in reply to a question regarding the size of town which could be adequately served by a nurse.

Mrs. G. E. Case moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

LAST RED CROSS DANCE OF SEASON NETS $90

Over $90 was realized as a large crowd wended its way to the high school auditorium on Friday night for the last Red Cross dance of the season. Art West and his orchestra provided the "swing and sway" music for the crowd.

Winners of the lucky dances were Mrs. C. W. Holmes of Stratford and Miss Helen Gould of Newmarket. The prizes were donated by Mrs. J. E. Nesbitt and Mrs. Harriet Baque. Dainty refreshments were served at tables attractively centred with spring flowers.

MERCURY JUMPS AROUND

Several Newmarket families enjoyed their first mushrooms (mushrooms) of the season last weekend.

JOIN RESERVE UNIT, IS DEMONSTRATION PLEA

Hundreds of people crowded Water St. on Saturday evening from 9:30 till 10 o'clock to see a squad of the reserve battalion of the Queen's York Rangers put on a demonstration with Bren and Lewis guns.

Wearing respirators the Queen's York Rangers set up their guns under a smoke-bomb screen and gave the spectators a thrill. Throughout the demonstration an announcer on a loud-speaker truck appealed to the men of Newmarket and district to train themselves for defence in the event of invasion.

The Queen's York Rangers bugle band paraded with the sound-truck and a "jeep," easily manoeuvrable baby truck, which carried some of the soldiers, their guns and equipment.

Lieut.-Col. J. H. Bennett personally addressed the crowd through the loudspeaker and told of the contribution Newmarket and district had already made through the active battalion of the Queen's York Rangers. "It can happen here," was the loudspeaker theme.

New Clerk's Office Is Under Study By Council

COUNCIL WILL SEE PLANS
TONIGHT FOR CHANGES
AT CLERK'S OFFICE

The regular town council meeting was postponed from Monday evening until this evening to permit the submission to the council of plans for the renovation or rebuilding of the clerk's office at Millard Ave. and Main St.

The town auditor, George Vale, recommended a new book-keeping system, additional clerical assistance and more accommodation in his report on the town's financial affairs this year.

A delegation will also appear before the council to present the case for a public health nurse.

ALL'S WELL THAT ENDS WELL, SAY QUAKERS

The Hicksite Friends meeting-house on the west side of Yonge St. at Armitage is being torn down by a Holland Marsh purchaser. The land remains the property of the trustees, and the purchase price is to be used to fix up and maintain the old cemetery behind the church.

The Orthodox Friends meeting-house (although both branches considered themselves Orthodox) on the west side of Yonge St. just south of Eagle St. is believed to have been built about 1804 by settlers who came to York county from Pennsylvania.

In 1827 there was a division in the Friends church. One group, led by Elias Hicks of Philadelphia, did not believe in the divinity of Christ, and this division spread to Canada. As a result the new meeting-house, now being torn down, was built. There was also a division in the church at Pine Orchard at the same time.

Mrs. James Gibney (nee Hattie Armitage) of Newmarket, and Charles Toole, Pine Orchard, father of Warden Earl Toole, are former members of the Hicksite church.

Today all Canadian Quakers are united again, after successive divisions and subdivisions, under the Canadian Friends Service Committee, formed 11 years ago. Rev. Burton Hill of Newmarket is secretary.

HEAR SOLDIER'S STORY OF BOMBED BRITAIN

Sgt. F. J. White of the Newmarket training camp was the guest speaker last Thursday evening at the Salvation Army club.

Sgt. White is a veteran of the last war. England, as it is now, was his subject. The sergeant was in England two years and five months during the present war. He was born in Scotland and raised in London, England.

"Don't worry about our boys over there, they're strong and healthy," he said. "Letters are welcomed as are the boxes. They have quite a bemoan when they arrive."

"We are up against a tough man in Hitler," Sgt. White said, but thought that if Japan had not come into the war Hitler might have been on the way out.

"Our boys are busy guarding the coastline, which is large," he said. "During the blitz of a year ago, two or three weeks were spent with no sleep for the soldiers."

"Part of the army's job is to protect the air force," he told an interesting incident when the English and the enemy were in the air. One Spitfire lost its tail, so the pilot had to bail out. Another Spitfire nearby circled round the pilot and watched until he landed. Sgt. White said that this was the spirit of England.

The first thing the boys have to get used to is the blackout, Sgt. White said. He told of the first night that he was at the training centre. He wanted to see the town, so decided to take a walk. The first thing he did was to fall down five steps. Not to be discouraged, he still kept on, meeting lamp posts all the time. After wandering around he landed back on his feet at three o'clock in the morning. He had completely lost his way.

The first bombing the sergeant experienced was when a bomb hit a man and a telephone booth at a soldiers' canteen. No more was seen of the man.

Around St. Paul's Cathedral most of the buildings are stationed to the ground. About 7 o'clock in the evening one would see fathers, mothers, children, old and young, carrying blankets and pillows, making for the underground shelter. A number have table-like shelters in their kitchens. When the alarm sounds, they make for the shelter, and trust that the ruins will not break through it.

"The English are most friendly. If the next door neighbor has lost all, he will be sure to find refuge in the neighborhood until he can again start plenty of food, but they have to be careful. Bombs are saved for the pigs. Onions are scarce. They got two eggs a month and one lump of sugar for the tea. Having coupons, the people save their until Saturday, so they can get a roast of meat."

"Everybody there does two jobs, ordinary work in the day and A.R.P. work at night."

"A person in England could get six months for throwing a cigarette package away."

"Don't forget we are at war. Don't worry about the boys or relatives there."

In closing Sgt. White said that the "Bally Ann" is tops with the boys, as it was in the last war. Sgt. White advised the group, if they thought of nothing else, to think of victory, which he said he felt sure would come.

MISSION LIFE IS CHOICE OF YOUNG PASTOR

OFFERS SERVICES TO UNITED CHURCH AS HOME
MISSIONARY

LEAVES IN AUGUST

Rev. Arthur Greer, who has been the pastor of the Newmarket Congregational-Christ church for three years, announced on Sunday that his ministry here would end in August.

Mr. Greer will serve as a home missionary under the United Church in northwest Canada.

Mr. Greer served in Stouffville and Church Hill before coming to Newmarket. He has been clerk, vice-president and president of the Ontario Conference of the Congregational-Christ church during his five years in the ministry.

Mr. Greer's influence during his stay in Newmarket has been extended beyond his own church. He has been in continuous demand as a speaker at public events and at the mid-week meetings of other churches. He has been liked by everybody and will be keenly missed in Newmarket.

Mr. Greer has refused attractive salary offers in Ontario to enter the harder life of a missionary. Mr. and Mrs. Greer have two children.

"There is an announcement that I have to make," Mr. Greer told his congregation on Sunday. "I felt a premonition that it might be a little difficult to say, so I have written it out in full. You who have followed us closely, our ministry here would agree, I believe, that we try to fashion and plan our course according to the revealed will of God. Adhering to that rule, it has been borne in upon the minds of my wife and myself that our best contribution has been made in this church, and that God is calling us to another section of His vast vineyard."

"It has always been our deep desire to enter missionary work, to serve where the need was greatest, and where ministers of the Gospel were scarce. Up until now, conditions and circumstances have compelled us to stay in the more lucrative and established churches. But circumstances have altered, and we feel that we are ready to accept the challenge of mission work."

"Foreign missions are closed to us, so that the needy parts of the home field must suffice. Therefore, we have offered ourselves for mission work anywhere in Canada, wherever the need seems to be greatest, and the vacancies hardest to fill."

"We will be serving under the United Church of Canada, but for the present, at least, we will not be officially joining that denomination. We desire to get our bearings first, and will therefore represent this church and this denomination on whatever field we serve. What we are asking is this—that you will consider us as your missionaries. That does not mean we seek your financial support, for, of course, we don't. That will be cared for. But we do seek your prayers, your good wishes, and your kind interest."

"We are not going immediately. Some time ago I mentioned this possibility to the pastoral board of the church, and suggested leaving at the end of my year, which is June. But the board felt it would be advisable and just to remain in the home field, so that I for the holiday season, so that I could preach at the winter services. That means my tenure will end at the close of the month of August. Since that is my holiday month this year, we will be leaving at the end of July, and will take up our holiday in reaching our field, which will probably be the northwest, and we will have to live. With children, it will take at least two weeks to motor out there. And from what I learn of their paragonies, we could well spend the other two weeks with carpenter's and painter's tools."

"If you who have loved us, and done all in your power to make our sojourn here a pleasant one, accept our heartfelt thanks. And will you pledge us your prayers, that as we go to care for six or seven hundred families, we may faithfully carry to them the comforts of the Gospel."

Red Cross Objective Is $7,500, Lambert Again Leads Drive

Objective Is Up 50 Percent Over 1940 Request,
Red Cross Will Use Money At Home And Abroad

Newmarket people tackle something a little different this month—a campaign for $7,500 for funds for the Red Cross, to carry on its work on the home front and the battlefronts.

When the Red Cross made its last appeal to Newmarket, in 1940, it asked for $5,000. It now asks, after a lapse of a year and a half, for half as much again, with every expectation of getting what it asks, and if Newmarket does the thing the way it did the Victory loan campaign, something more than it asks.

The campaign chairman is H. E. Lambert. He is assisted by F. H. Hewson, W. L. Bosworth, W. H. Eves, Joseph Vale, and a team of door-to-door canvassers, who will expect everyone to give just a little bit more than he can "afford" to give.

The Red Cross is helping the needy and the injured in uniform and in civilian—the frontiers of democracy all over the world. Newmarket will want to have a big share in this job.

Cleaning Up Premises Said First Civil Defence Step

NEWMARKET MEN GATHER INFORMATION FOR USE
"IN CASE"

(By Rudy Renzi, press secretary of Newmarket Civilian Defence Committee.)

It didn't happen here! That's the way we all would like to change the well-worn book-let. But a thing like that does not just happen. We have to do something about it. Every last one of us. You may or may not know that we have a Newmarket Civilian Defence Committee.

For the past two months, under the able chairmanship of H. E. Lambert, this group of citizens have been working hard collecting information, digging up facts, planning and dividing up our town into districts and generally doing all this spade work that does not show but must be there for any successful enterprise.

Much information has been collected and put into the hands of the following controllers for further discussion and action: fire department, W. W. Osborne, police, Jas. Sloss, medical, Dr. L. W. Dales, public utilities, A. D. Evans, transportation, Frank Bowser, vice-chairman, N. L. Mathews, K.C., secretary-treasurer, H. M. Gladman.

Lectures on and moving pictures of A.R.P. work are planned for the near future. The next general meeting, open to the public, is on Tuesday, May 19, at 7:30 p.m., at the fire hall. Plan to attend.

In the meantime let us all clean up our backyards, garages and attics. It is the first step in the right direction.

ONE MONTH'S SALVAGE COLLECTION NETS $293

Thanks to the hearty co-operation of citizens of Newmarket, collection of waste paper, rags, rubber and other materials during April reached a total of over 25 tons, and proceeds of $293, the Newmarket salvage committee reports.

Donations to war charities totaling $200 were authorized this week and include taking over from the Newmarket Veterans' Association their new cigarette mailing for troops overseas.

Public leaders warn of the need for salvage materials, particularly rubber and metal. Scrap metal makes guns and tanks. Scrap rubber makes tires for the army. Scrap paper makes shell cases. Fats make explosives. Bones make aeroplane glue. Rags make army blankets.

A monster collection is planned for the last week in May, when the entire town will be covered. In the meantime any urgent calls may be telephoned to 431 and an effort will be made to collect, but, if possible, citizens are asked to please hold the material until the regular collection date.

The work of collecting salvage has grown to such proportions that more help is badly needed to supervise loading of trucks and to help to warehouses and on collection days. Volunteers who could spare a Saturday afternoon to help the Boy Scouts in this work occasionally would be very welcome.

DISTANT FIELDS LOOK GREEN

Our dominion government is to be commended for the study which it is carrying on, under the chairmanship of the Hon. Ian Mackenzie, on post-war placement of returned soldiers. Many of those who have enlisted were happy in civilian fields which they left and will want to return to their same occupations. Many, however, felt themselves to be square pegs in round holes, and will have a natural desire to get into the thing they have always hankered for. Still another large group were unemployed before the war. Some of them may never have had steady employment and will be glad of any assurance of a steady income on their return to civilian life, but in whatever field they choose they will find themselves handicapped by their previous lack of experience in civilian employment. Others may have been unemployed partly because they had started life in occupations for which they were not fitted.

After the war is over, apparently the Canadian government intends to see that every soldier gets a chance to choose his occupation, and will pay the cost, up to a reasonable limit, of learning a new trade or calling. Possibly each man will be psycho-analyzed for civilian life, just as many are now being psycho-analyzed for military life. No doubt the government will satisfy itself, through psychologists, that a man is likely to make a success of the calling which he elects, or at least it will not let a man go into a particular field without telling him that the psychologists find, if such be the case, that he will be handicapped in that particular pursuit.

The farming part of the rehabilitation scheme is of particular interest to rural people, because they know best the difficulties of farming and the qualities—we might say super-human qualities—required to make a success of that calling. Mr. Mackenzie's committee proposes the establishment on the land of 25,000 soldiers at a cost of $80,000,000. Mr. Mackenzie states that the main aims of the farm settlement scheme are: "To assist discharged members of the armed forces to establish themselves successfully in the farming industry; to ensure that the agricultural industry bears its share of the rehabilitation program, along with other phases of Canada's industrial life; to give ex-members of the forces returning to agricultural pursuits benefits comparable to those available for men entering other occupations."

In the first place, it should be said that a soldier should be free to choose farming as his post-war occupation, even if he has never farmed before, if a pre-war farmer is to be free to choose an industrial job, as many a farm boy will choose. No one should be permitted to go into farming, however, and no one should be set up in farming at great expense to the state, without being informed of what the odds are against him—if the odds are against him—making a success of it and finding happiness in a life on the farm. And, of course, with the unhappy experience of the last war's soldier settlement plan in the files, the government should not settle any inexperienced man on the land without first giving him at least a year's apprenticeship working for a successful farmer. Then he would know if he really were interested and what the hardships and difficulties were likely to be. If he changed his mind at the end of the year, he should be still entitled to a government-assisted start in some other occupation.

Insofar as the scheme is intended to help former farm boys with the necessary business ability get a start on farms of their own the scheme will have general approval, but reading Mr. Mackenzie's second purpose, "to ensure that the agricultural industry bears its share of the rehabilitation program, along with other phases of Canada's industrial effort," makes one suspicious of the soundness of the thinking underlying the whole scheme. Not the agricultural industry, but the country as a whole, surely, is going to pay for this scheme. Many a farmer will have a chance to sell his farm to the government, unless indeed the government is going to put these men on marginal land not now in production and bonus them to compete with producing farms. That would indeed, in a country already producing more than enough food for peace-time needs, be to make "the agricultural industry bear its share of the rehabilitation program."

In fact, it makes one suspicious of the government's attitude to the whole post-war problem. Instead of talking of making agriculture bear more burdens, Mr. Mackenzie should be talking of making agriculture sufficiently prosperous that the returned soldier entering farming would have a reasonable chance of success. The giving of a bonus of something over $2,000 a soldier suggests that the government is putting the soldier into an unprofitable occupation. The government is not going to set up soldiers in any other business undertaking. It is merely going to give them training for other occupations, and that is all that would be necessary for soldiers entering farming if the government were planning steps to make agriculture prosperous.

Although Mr. Mackenzie does not make it clear how he proposes to make the agricultural industry "bear its share of the rehabilitation program," his words are not encouraging. There is no proposal to put any burden on industry. Instead, the government will pay for the cost of training men to take jobs in industry. That will be a bonus to industry, and one of which the public will approve. To train men to work on farms would likewise be a bonus to agriculture, and to give them money to buy farms would not hurt those now engaged in farming, but to put them on land not now in production—and to make farmers help finance new competition—wouldn't be fair or sound.

In short, if the government would study means of making both industry and agriculture prosperous after the war it would not need to worry so much about financing occupational training. A prosperous industry would gladly train ex-soldiers, and a prosperous agriculture would have plenty of room for men with the diligence and business ability to operate a farm successfully. Then industry and agriculture would absorb men according to the country's consumer needs. There are unlimited needs for additional industrial products—houses, bathrooms, refrigerators, stoves, radios, telephones—but, while there may be need for a better diet, there is little additional agricultural production needed in this country at the present stage of development (except for wartime needs).

If a river overflows its banks in the spring, and does damage, and becomes so dry in mid-summer that it will not provide needed drinking water or permit navigation, there is nothing you can do at the lower end of the river to improve the situation. You must go to the source, and replace the forests which man has cut away, or build conservation dams, to let the water down in an even all-summer flow. If the economic system doesn't work, it is no use tinkering with the symptoms. You can't cure the disease by moving men from depressed urban industry to a depressed agriculture or vice versa. Unless you go to the source of the trouble, you are likely to make matters worse than if you let natural laws have their way.

We can't increase agricultural production in this country unless we can find a way of making the country as a whole more prosperous (and even then we can't increase our domestic food consumption radically), or unless we decide as a nation to specialize in agriculture and export agricultural products in return for manufactured products. Our problem is not to place returned soldiers but to make our economy so smooth-working that the returned soldiers will have no difficulty in finding places for themselves. Most of those soldiers, formerly living in town or city, who elect farm life, will do so, or have done so, not because they prefer country to city, but because they know the uncertainties of city life, the despair of long periods of unemployment, and think that a farm of their own would be bliss. They haven't the slightest conception of the hardships and privations of farm life.

BUT WE CAN PICK FOREST HILL'S BRAINS

"Colossal presumption!" the Stouffville Tribune terms the action of a Forest Hill village school principal in attending Stouffville school classes to observe teachers in action and subsequent employment of one of the teachers observed to teach in Forest Hill, millionaire town.

The city principal made his visit to the Stouffville school through an introduction by a school inspector.

The Tribune has no criticism for the teacher who accepted a more highly paid position but roundly condemns Forest Hill village and its "spotter" system.

It is to be hoped, so that we may continue to believe in the good breeding of Forest Hill village, that the model school municipality had applications from the Stouffville teachers whose work the principal was checking up on. Be that as it may, however, the occasion is a good one to point out that just as the poor little rich kids of Forest Hill village need good teachers so do the rich little poor kids of town and country need good teachers. The way Forest Hill village obtains and holds good teachers (aside from any spotting methods) is to pay good wages.

Good teachers may be developed in rural areas just as easily as in city areas and they can be held at home without paying them as much as they would get in a city school. Town and rural schools, however, should pay the highest salaries they can afford to pay. In that way they will hold more of their best teachers and attract into the teaching profession better teacher material. Low salaries hold poor teachers and force out good teachers. Sufficiently high salaries over the whole province would force all the poor teachers out of the profession. School boards would not have to take second-rate teachers.

THAT'S JUST THE TROUBLE

Even if he did marry the sister of so sound and careful a man as Viscount Bennett, Hon. W. D. Herridge, one-time Canadian minister to Washington, is inclined to be hasty in his talk. Mr. Herridge's alignment with the funny-money New Democracy party does more credit to his heart than to his head, and now Mr. Herridge's statement that if Canada doesn't get "leadership" Washington may be forced to "intervene" is a bit rash. The trouble with Canada's leadership is not that it is too weak, but that it is too strong. Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King has such an uncanny control over the Canadian electorate that he can do pretty much anything he pleases, or nothing at all, if that pleases him better.

To be fair to Mr. King, it should be borne in mind that if he is inclined to be a line-of-least-resistance man, he has also the faculty of gathering around him some able men (Howe, Ralston, Halsey, Power, MacDonald) to whom he gives a free hand. They have done a magnificent job, and no doubt what they have done Mr. King has done.

HIGH INTEREST RATE

Givers to the Red Cross in the coming campaign will find that they have made a wonderful investment, an investment which will pay 1,000 percent in satisfaction. It is one thing to lend money to the government to make guns. There is satisfaction in that and there is a fair return on your money. But it is another thing to give your money to the Red Cross. There is joy in it and an excellent return on your money.

MR. AND MRS. ROBIN ABANDON THEIR EGGS

BY RUTH DINGMAN HEBB

"How lovely it is up here at the lake and in the woods," exclaimed Young Chips, the Chickadee, to his friend, Nutty Nuthatch. "I almost wish we weren't nesting and could just roam around and visit all our friends this grand weather. However, duty calls, and this is probably the last long trip you and I will be able to take for several weeks. I wonder who in the world that is, banging so steadily, over to the left?" Nutty said. "It's a most unpleasant noise."

"It's one of the Woodpeckers, you may be sure of that," the Chickadee replied. "Oh, here he is, pounding away on an overhanging rock at that cottage. No wonder he is making such a dreadful tinny sound."

"It's Sappy, the Yellow-bellied Sapsucker," Nutty said. "He is a lovely-looking bird, isn't he? I suppose he'll be going on a bit farther north very soon now to set up housekeeping. Listen! I hear a loud, warbling song over in those birch trees in this other direction. Who would that be?"

"It's a Yellow Warbler," announced Young Chips without hesitation. "It's pleasant to hear his voice again isn't it? And who is that singing up above us here in the hemlock tree? It's a sweet song, too."

"A Purple Finch, or I miss my guess," stated Nutty. "The woods seem to be just alive with birds. There's another Warbler of some kind singing over nearer this other cottage over here."

"And oh, here's a Phoebe, bless his heart, the first one I've laid eyes on this year!" exclaimed the Chickadee delightedly. "What's going on around here, Mr. Phoebe? Have you found a mate yet?"

"Oh, my yes!" answered the dainty, olive-grey gentleman. "My wife is busy right now building our nest, and I should be helping her. I had just stopped to admire all the lovely trilliums in the woods. Aren't they beautiful? And they're about three weeks ahead of their usual blooming time, this year. It's really amazing! And just look at all the yellow and blue violets and bellwort in bloom, too."

"What's the news up here in the woods?" asked Nutty. "Well, of course, quite a number of the birds are building nests, or have already built them," said the Phoebe. "The woods are noisy these mornings with bird songs. This morning I was awakened about five o'clock with a perfect chorus of Robins trilling and a Flicker piping away like mad. I was awake anyway, so I decided that I might as well join the singers. "I almost feel tempted to move out here for the summer, except that we are already settled in a nice Woodpecker's hole, near town," said Young Chips. "Merry wouldn't dream of changing now, of course."

"A sad thing happened up here over the weekend," said the Phoebe. "A Robin couple had built a nice nest on the back porch of one of the cottages, right on the porch beam, half way up the wall, only about three feet from the ground. Some of the other birds thought the Robins were being very foolish, building so close to the ground, but, you know, once a bird has made up his or her mind about a nest, he gets stubborn about it. Anyway, they had four lovely green-blue eggs in that nest and the mother Robin was sitting on them happily, when the inevitable happened, with this exceptionally warm weather. The owners of the cottage came up to spend the weekend."

"Oh, dear," chirped Nutty sympathetically. "That was unfortunate."

"It was tragic!" stated the Phoebe, simply. "There was the nest, just an arm's length from the kitchen door, which was used so much. The poor Robins simply flew away and didn't come back, although the cottagers tried not to frighten them, of course. The Robins never went back near their poor eggs at all. Perhaps they'll build another nest. I don't know."

"That is heart-breaking, isn't it?" said Young Chips. "How much better it would have been if they had built higher up and just a little farther away from the back door. It would have been worse still if the little birds had hatched out and someone had brought a cat up to the summer holidays, though. That should be a lesson to you and your wife, Mr. Phoebe. I know how fond you are of nesting on cottage verandahs."

"Yes, it did make us stop to think a bit," confessed the Phoebe. "But, as a matter of fact, we have built our nest just under the roof of an old ice-house, on the side farthest away from the door, so I'm sure we'll be quite all right. That reminds me that I had better get back to my wife. I'm supposed to be hunting for some moss for the nest right this minute. We've got plenty of mud already. Good-bye." He flew off swiftly. "I guess we'd better get home, too," said Young Chips. "Our wives will be wondering what has become of us."

The Common Round BIRTHDAY
By Isabel Inglis Colville

This week I am going to use this column to write about something that is common to every common rounder's life—a birthday! We celebrate or we do not, according to inclination, for some feel that these landmarks along life's highway seem to emphasize the swiftness of time's passage. But still, celebrations go on, from the tiny one-candle cake of the baby to the many-candle of the aged, from the celebrations that keep in remembrance the lives and deeds of great and good men to the greater commemorations that mark the birth of nations, all leading up to the great birthday of all time—that of Dec. 25th.

But leaving all these abstract facts behind, I want to speak of a concrete one—my mother's 90th birthday, and to use this column for once VERY personally to thank those who made that birthday such a pleasant one.

On the morning of the 27th, after speeding the man of the family on his way, I snatched a cat nap and awakened with a start realizing something had happened. It came again—the sound of the knocker, so, more asleep than awake and with, no doubt, a wild expression of contentment, I flew to the door to behold a bringer of gifts—flowers and cream, and a lovely card for the birthday lady. I had just recovered when a small boy arrived on a bicycle and presented another card—thought I, if this is the beginning, what of the end? But I forgot that the gifts began the night before when, in our absence, a good fairy left delightful maple sugar shells and a record-breaking egg.

Conveying these tokens with her breakfast to the lady they were meant for, I descended to the lower regions in time to receive more cards and flowers and a welcome visitor.

By this time my sense of duty was awake for this was voting day, so I hied me up the road to register my opinion and while there received further tokens to be conveyed to the 90-year-old recipient of all these favors.

From then till noon I alternated between the telephone, a pudding and a cake, becoming in the process a trifle confused, but in the end, strange as it seems, the cake remained a cake and the pudding was still a pudding, while over the telephone no one seemed to feel that my mentality was at a low ebb.

Neon brought the postman, the postman brought a shower of beautiful cards, and they have continued to come ever since from far and near.

In the afternoon and evening more guests—more gifts, and I think if all the senders and givers had seen how deeply their offerings were appreciated they would have been as delighted as mother.

I asked mother what struck her most nowadays as to the difference between her young days and now.

"The attitude of people toward age," said she. She was looking at an oil painting of my grandmother as she spoke—taken when grandmother was 47. She is lovely, but I would have judged her to be 70, and indeed no 70 today would be dressed as she—with a cap, nor would 90 for that matter. "I thought my mother an old woman then," mother went on, "and I think," she continued, "it was the point of view that made them seem old."

"We thought they were and they lived up to that idea." "Mother," said my mother, "was a great reader and interested in everything, but she felt her place was in the home and she stayed there, the only things that tempted her out were church and an opera, for we had a few good companies come to Perth."

"When I see the women of 47, 70 and over of today doing all sorts of work, going to all sorts of things, speaking and organizing and doing their full share of world work, I feel that a woman like my mother, with her liberty of thought and tolerance, her clear thinking and insight was somehow wanted on us children, who took her for granted. "But," she finished, "such a life is an inspiration for all who came in contact with it." Now, friends who read this column and who remembered mother so beautifully, let me tell you in her name and paraphrasing Longfellow, "Speak not of wasted kindness, kindness never was wasted." Thank you all.

When war broke, Canada had no small-arms industry. Today she is making all these modern weapons for herself and her allies. Her Bren plant, producing several thousand guns a month, ranks as one of the largest small-arms factories in the world.

The telephone is a day-and-night necessity to the men who created this industry and now must set even new production records, month after month. Their calls must go through. Lines must be available to handle them promptly.

And they can be, provided everyone is efficient and unselfish in his use of existing telephone facilities. Your telephone is part of an extensive wartime communications system. Are you observing "Wartime Telephone Tactics"?

POLICE COURT MOTHER PREFERS JAIL FOR YEAR TO FREEDOM

Although Percy Taylor, Toronto, pleaded not guilty, in Newmarket police court on Tuesday, to a charge of careless driving on Yonge St. on April 25, Magistrate W. E. McIlveen convicted him of the charge and fined him the minimum penalty of $5 and costs. "On April 25, in East Gwillimbury, I stopped the car driven by Percy Taylor," testified Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson. "I was at the curve at Holland Landing. I observed this car cut out and pass another car on the hill. The officer went on to state that the road at this point is narrow, with steep embankments on both sides. "The hill is sufficiently high and sharp to prevent seeing another car coming," the officer stated. "There is a solid white line on this hill."

In his defence, Mr. Taylor, who stated that he had been driving for over 25 years, denied that he was driving in a careless manner at the time the officer saw him and stated that the car ahead of him had been "moping" along the highway. He denied that his car had been fully across the white line and stated that he had been driving at a moderate speed. "Were you or weren't you on the white line at all?" asked Magistrate W. E. McIlveen. "I might have been two inches over," replied Mr. Taylor. "You were over the solid white line," stated his worship. "What do you think the government is going to the expense of buying paint and taking the trouble of painting these lines for? No matter if you were going five miles an hour, you had no business going over the solid white line."

Found guilty of charges of assault and vagrancy, 18-year-old Ernest Green, a soldier, was remanded for sentence in custody for one week. According to the evidence given in police court by a young Newmarket girl, she and her sister had been returning from a dance at 9:30 p.m. on the evening of April 30, when the defendant and another youth followed them. She stated that she told the youths to stop following them and one of them went away. The defendant, however, continued to follow them into a restaurant on Main St. where they had soft drinks and then went to their home. They had continually asked him not to follow them. The witness stated that when she and her sister went to their house the accused came up on the verandah and that when her father ordered him to leave the premises, Green chased him around the house.

"What was the accused's condition?" asked Crown Attorney N. L. Mathews, K.C.

"I thought he had been drinking, he had been stumbling up the street," replied the witness.

According to Chief Constable James Sloss of Newmarket, when he questioned the defendant, the latter admitted having followed the girls and that he had not known them previously. He could give no reason for his actions. When called to the stand, the defendant admitted that he had chased the girl's father when the latter ordered him to leave. Questioned by N. L. Mathews, K.C., for the crown, as to why he did not leave when he was told, he stated that he did not know. He admitted having previously had some whiskey "in a back lane," but stated that he did not know who it was that had given it to him. "I want to think this over for a week," commented Magistrate McIlveen. A second charge of vagrancy against the defendant was withdrawn.

Pleading guilty to stealing a car owned by Duncan Tillett, Roche's Point, Clarence Sedore and Mrs. Winifred Handy, both of Aurora, were each sentenced to one year at an Ontario reformatory.

According to Mr. Tillett, owner of the stolen car, he had parked his car "at the approach to the bridge at the entrance to Sutton" on midnight of April 25-26. Upon entering a newspaper store nearby he encountered the defendants coming out of the store. Later, when he was returning to his car, he saw "Mr. Sedore push Mrs. Handy past the driver's seat of the car and then get in himself." The witness stated that he saw them drive away and he then notified the police. When next he saw the car it was in a lane four miles away and damaged to the extent of $35 or $40.

Questioned further by the crown, Mr. Tillett stated that he had seen the defendants in a hotel previous to the time he saw them taking his car.

County Constable William Hill told his worship that he had been notified of the theft about 1 a.m. and had proceeded west on the base line from Sutton. "About three miles along, I noticed skid marks on the road," the officer stated. "I went up the fifth concession, where I met Constable Morton. I turned back."

The witness went on to say that he had met the defendants "thumping a ride to Keswick." He stated that their legs were wet and muddy. When asked if he wished to say anything, Mr. Sedore told his worship that he and his companion had gone to Sutton on April 25. "We had been drinking and took Mr. Tillett's car," he stated. "I didn't shove Mrs. Handy in the car. She wanted to get home to her children. If we hadn't been drinking this would never have been done."

As far as Mrs. Handy is concerned, she has no record," the crown informed his worship. "She has four children. There are two people to look after them for her. Her husband is overseas." He added that Mr. Sedore had been convicted in Newmarket police court in 1940 of two charges of breaking and entering and theft and was sentenced to three months in the Cuyahoga reformatory. On July 12, 1941, he had also been sentenced to six months at the Industrial Farm at Burwash for theft.

"It's absolutely definite," commented his worship. "It is not possible for me to suspend sentence on this charge."

"I would pay damages to the car," promised Mrs. Handy. "It isn't a case of paying at all," replied Magistrate McIlveen. "As it is set out in the act, the theft of an automobile calls for one year in prison."

"I don't think Mrs. Handy is as guilty as Mr. Sedore," stated the crown. "I will consent to a suspended sentence on her behalf. She would be put on probation."

"My children are alright, my mother will take care of them," interrupted Mrs. Handy. "I would sooner go to jail."

Charges against the pair of vagrancy and of taking an auto without the owner's consent were withdrawn.

Pleading guilty to charges of having inadequate brakes on their motor vehicles, Hugh Heath Hamilton of Aurora and W. J. Curran of Bayville were each fined $10 and costs. Provincial Constable Alex. Ferguson testified that he had tested the Hamilton car on April 20 on No. 11 highway in White church and that neither the foot brake or the hand brake were in order. The officer stated that Mr. Curran had been driving a truck loaded with lumber.

A fine of $1 and costs was imposed on Ernest Rogers, Bradford, who pleaded guilty to having insufficient lights on his car. Constable Ferguson stated that the defendant had but one head-light on his car and no tail-light.

There were six charges of exceeding the speed limit in Newmarket, all laid by Constable Kenneth Mount. Arthur M. Gee, Toronto, was fined $9, including costs, for travelling at 42 miles an hour. Paul Plathin and Edwin R. Foster, both of Toronto, George Beach, Aurora, and Helen Bantam, Bradford, were each fined $5, including costs for driving at 40 miles an hour. All were timed during the month of April.

For failing to have his operator's license, John Drew, Toronto, was fined $10 and costs. County Constable Ronald Watt laid the charge.

TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Era: Your editorial, "Milk and Honey in a Post-War World," seems to me to be a call for a post-war order based upon the flimsy, floundering world of the past. You enumerate the tremendous resources of human energy ready to be harnessed. We boast of our tremendous natural resources and we all cry for leadership and leadership because of lack of same. Why? Because we have no desire to search for a world order except one which emanates from the fertile brain of man.

Thus you suggest that all these God-given resources are waiting only for "Imaginizers" to sound the call to action.

"Imaginizers" is the only word that can be used for those post-war world order builders. Nebuchadnezzar said, "Look at this great Babylon which I have built." What happened? Read Book of Daniel, and the same fate has overtaken every new world order builder that history records, the "Kaiser" being the last. Also the dictators which arose after the Czarist failure (Rev. 18, 13-14).

That brings us right to modern history and should be of vital interest to every Christian. The seven vials of revelations portray the political, religious, etc., from approximately 1789 to the end of the age or Christian dispensation or period of grace, the latter being a period of time given by God for the nation Israel (also the individual, which is the function of the church as an integral part of the nation) to prepare herself as a bride, always remembering that God was an husband unto Israel (the great provider materially as well as spiritually). He divorced her, cast her off, has forgiven and rebuked her (Hosea 1; Isa. 54, 5-11), and the period of rebuking has nearly ended and the reuniting or marriage must soon take place, or, in other words, the nation must return to God's world order as per plan and specifications given in the Bible, not just the New Testament. God had never married the church nor cast her off nor rebuked her nor will he rebuke her. The church is the body of Christ symbolically and it is not logical that he can marry his own body.

The nation must make itself ready for the change. There will be a real purging. Those things that are part of the Babylonian order will be cleaned right out of our system. Not a vestige will remain and nothing can prevent the cleansing of the sanctuary, money, political power, religious organizations, Nazism, fascism, communism, socialism and last but not least, the seventh and last vial is being poured into the air. The book records no more wars for a thousand years. Our king and leaders of the United Nations, even Hitler, have ratified this scriptural fact and "Imaginizers" and the old political cry of a full dinner pail will no longer be heard. We must have a new solid foundation.

The Atlantic Charter to the seventh clause goes further than any of the above isms but the last clause is stupendous in the statement, "pending a better system of security." Has there been any security in the man-made systems? I think not. Our superpower, with men of today and yesterday, with all their learning, have been proved by the present chaotic state of the world to be the greatest dupes. They have studied and taught the histories and practices of the economic systems of the Gentile or heathen nations but refuse to consider the only perfect economic system because it is in the Bible.

Blackstones, the great British authority on jurisprudence, has stated that it is given for and workable in any age. David said it was perfect, converting the soul. That means satisfying both the spiritual and material and I venture to suggest that the last clause of the Atlantic Charter was made with the knowledge, and I mean knowledge, that the system of the Kingdom of God on earth is near and inevitable.

We must as a people and nation realize that our leaders cannot bring about this system nor any "Imaginizer." You say, Mr. Editor, that promise for a better Canada will arouse Canadians to a greater effort. That kind of thing was alright a few decades ago, but we have stretched to the limits of the earth and we are now being contracted. All peoples are drawing closer together by our present means of communication and transportation. It is beyond the wisdom of man to devise a system whereby we can live in our own land in peace and security. It must be a system that all the world can embrace if they so desire. God is alone and has done this. It is alone to Israel. I will give thee (Israel) the heathen for an inheritance. When we adopt his system we will have no more India troubles on our hands.

In conclusion, Mr. Editor, I will say that most of our troubles have been caused by the teaching of an impracticable religion. Our attention has been diverted from earth to heaven when everything from rain to the now Jerusalem and Christ himself come down from heaven to earth. The fallacy that teaches that religion is merely a vehicle for personal soul satisfaction and growth is to be condemned. It must find expression in every part of man, his economic as well as spiritual life.

When we realize this as a nation we will know what we are fighting for. We are modern Israel. We have Israel's responsibilities as a servant nation and there could be no greater impetus to an all-out war effort than to know that it is our chosen duty. To loose the hands of wickedness, to undo the heavy burden and to let the oppressed go free and that ye break every yoke. It is not to deal thy bread to the hungry and that thou bring the poor that are cast out of thy house, when thou seest the naked that thou cover him and that thou hide not thyself from thine own flesh. Isa. 68, 6-7.

Yours sincerely,
H. J. Luck,
Newmarket.

Your Eyes NOW Should Be Most Efficient! . . .

At long last the people of Canada appear to be fully awake to the need for an "all-out" war effort. That means that eyes, too, must function more efficiently.

The better you see the better you work

Even though you may think your vision is "pretty good," it is advisable to have an eye examination. A scientific examination takes only a few minutes of your time. If your vision is normal or your present glasses are suited to today's needs, then it will be well to know it.

There is no better time to have your eyes examined than NOW

When you have your eyes examined ask about CORECTAL lenses, recommended by the leaders of the profession in Canada.

To the Citizens of Newmarket:

This is the first appeal for funds for the Red Cross Society since 1940. You are all aware and familiar with the need and the splendid work being done by the Canadian Red Cross Society, wherever the need is presented. The demand on the Red Cross as new battle fronts are opened will be terrific. A great many of our Newmarket boys are now overseas, and will be benefitting by the supplies of the Red Cross.

The objective for Newmarket in 1940 was $5,000. NOW the objective has been set at $7,500 and the committee in charge feel sure that our citizens will make every effort to make certain that this objective is reached and in their usual style surpass it, which means that EACH and EVERYONE of us GIVE more than we did in the past. We ask your co-operation in this campaign. Receive the canvassers cordially. Have your donation ready and make it as generous as possible. We are all free from the horrors of war as YET, so be generous in your contributions in order that our boys will not be neglected.

Do your part handsomely and put Newmarket well over the top again. ALL contributions are exempted from Income Tax.

PUZZLERS THIS WEEK WILL HAVE TO DECIDE WHERE ONE WORD ENDS AND THE NEXT BEGINS

Winners of last week's classified ad contest, drawn by Frank Bowser, Main St. grocer, from the 44 correct answers sent in, are as follows: M. Boyd, Timothy St., Newmarket, Miss Marie Barker, 104 Prospect St., Newmarket, Mrs. E. Woolven, Newmarket, John Kitzke, Queensville, and Mrs. Elias Smart, Newmarket.

These five people win double passes to the Strand theatre for next Tuesday evening to see "Louisiana Purchase," or next Thursday evening to see "International Squadron" and "Alias Boston Blackie," starring Chester Morris. Passes may be picked up any evening at the theatre.

The correct answers were: cucumber, comfortable, trimming, commencing, assistant, knowledge, blacksmith, guaranteed, expected and cemetery. Those answers with mistakes in them or which were sent in late were not included in the draw.

THIS WEEK'S CONTEST
Double passes to the Strand will go to five more winners this week, who may see Dorothy Lamour, Wm. Holden and Eddie Bracken in "The Fleet's In" and Lloyd Nolan, Constance Moore and Albert Dekker in "Buy Me That Town," on Tuesday, May 19, or Madeleine Carroll and Stirling Hayden in "Bahama Passage" and Chester Morris and Jean Parker in "No Hands on the Clock" on Thursday, May 21. Answers must reach The Era by 9:30 a.m. on Tuesday morning.

This week ten words have been taken from the classified ads, but instead of listing the scrambled words individually we have left no space between the scrambled words. The first scrambled word leads right on into the second and third, etc. For instance if three words to be unscrambled were chickens, house, furnace, we would have perhaps hkcicnesuehoceanrfu.

We hope this will puzzle the puzzlers a bit. Here are the ten scrambled words (none of the letters have been left out): AOL ITSYPENSHAREFTTYUNQIT ATHOLENEPEOCSEMDITLUN AVECREESNEFRTIOPESCIND SGROANTICNTUOACTA.

WANT-ADS

The rate for Want Ads is 25 cents for the first insertion; 40 cents for two insertions; 50 cents for three insertions. For over 25 insertions, each additional word, one insertion, one cent, additional insertions, one-half cent per insertion.

Recall History Of Band At 50th Anniversary

The 50th anniversary services, commemorating the founding of the mission band in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, were held Sunday, April 19. The actual anniversary was March 7, but the minister, Rev. J. A. Koffend, being away ill at that time, it was held over until this later date.

The following brief history of the band was read by Mary Lou Little as part of the service.

"The Busy Bees mission band is an auxiliary of the Women's Missionary Society. The aim of mission bands is to unite the children of the church in prayer and in service for children at home and in other lands. Our motto is, 'The World for Christ' and our text, 'Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel.'"

"Our history is not complete, as the minute books are missing up to 1924, but from information given us by Misses Annie and Margaret Morrison we have been able to trace the following facts and names of our leaders.

"On March 7, 1892, the mission band was organized by Miss Nellie Forsyth, under the name of 'The Faithful Workers.' There were seven honorary members and 22 ordinary members. The meetings were held twice a month, on the second and fourth Saturdays.

"The officers were: Miss Nellie Forsyth, president; Miss Morton, 1st vice-pres.; Miss Ada Rogers, 2nd vice-pres.; Miss Katy Wesley, treasurer; Miss Etta Bastedo, secretary; Miss Marion Rennie, pianist; Miss Jessie Dickson, assistant look-out committee; Misses Bertie Wesley, Norine Wilson, Thuzia Trivet, Pearly Fletcher.

"During the years the work has continued with varying interest and now follows our honor roll of leaders. Under the name of 'The Faithful Workers,' Miss Nellie Forsyth, Mrs. Western, Mrs. Mann, Mrs. S. Booth. After the union of churches, Mrs. Gillfillan. Renamed the Busy Bees under the leadership of Miss Isobel Rowland leader for 10 years; Mrs. D. McIntyre, Mrs. H. Lepard, Mrs. J. A. Koffend.

"In this our 50th anniversary the officers are: Bobby Koffend, president; Harold Simmons, vice-president; Mary Ellen MacInnis, secretary; Grace Smith, treasurer; Mary Lou Little, pianist; Mrs. J. Cribar, leader; Mrs. J. A. Koffend, assistant leader; and a roll-call of 21 members.

"A junior life membership is given each year to the member with best attendance record and who has given his or her best services to the band.

"There were six junior life memberships given on Jan. 5, 1925, but the names were not entered in the minutes. Those we have record of are: Mary Gillfillan, Jean Hamilton, Margaret Mathewson, Mary Rosamond, Elsie Mathewson, Margaret Shea, Beatrice Dillman, Bessie Mair, Margaret Hisey, Mary Shanks, Bruce Shanks, Irene Smith, Margaret MacInnis, Mary Lou Little, and for this year, Pauline Longhurst."

"The W.M.S. treated the children of the mission band to a birthday party on April 20, the main item of which was a giant cake with 50 candles. There were 20 members and 16 visitors present.

About 2:45 a.m. Chief of Police Fisher, Dunham, who had made periodic trips past the scene of the fire, discovered that a fresh blaze had broken out about ten feet beyond the previous blaze and within four minutes the brigade was again on the scene and extinguished the blaze with chemicals.

CADET INSPECTION

Aurora school cadets acquitted themselves in fine fashion as they went through two inspections on Friday morning and afternoon.

In the morning Capt. E. C. Read of M. D. 2 inspection cadre reviewed the boy and girl cadets of the high school. The boys wore khaki uniforms with green trim, the bugle band, led by Drum-Majorette Joan Chalk, being dressed in blue tunics, blue berets and white trousers. The girls wore dark gym suits and blue berets.

Following the general salute Cadet-Major William Thompson turned the parade over to the platoon commanders. A signals display and precision drill by the girls, without a word of command and to the beat of the drums, looked smart.

The officers for the boys' corps were Cadet-Major Wm. Thompson, Cadet Capt. George King, and Lieutenants Emmerson Jennings and Doug. Nisbet. Anson Gilbert was C.S.M.

The girls' corps was commanded by Norma Mathew, with Lieutenants Pat Sloman, Mary Emmett, Dorothy Richardson, Barbara Brown and C.S.M. Selma Mesley.

"It is a splendid display," Capt. Read told the cadets. "You have received a high mark."

In the afternoon the high school cadets were joined by the newly formed public school cadets, almost 100 strong, who were dressed in white sweatshirts and wine berets.

Undergoes Attack By Nazi Undersea Raiders

Visiting Aurora this week has been Somers C. H. Gracey, a stoker on one of Canada's newest corvettes.

He is a former King township boy, residing near Maple until two years ago when he joined the navy. He has seen service in both Pacific and Atlantic waters. Not long ago the corvette on which he sailed sighted a German U-boat. Later the corvette was attacked by two Nazi undersea raiders. "We drove them off, and perhaps hit one, for there was oil on the water," Seaman Gracey told The Era.

In two years at sea that is the only occasion we have been in danger. The Canadian navy is ready for the enemy. He will join his ship in a few weeks.

WITH THE CHURCHES

Mrs. E. H. Clarke, Mrs. Roy DeLaffay and Mrs. A. M. Clarke were among the members of the W.M.S. of Aurora United church who attended the district W.M.S. conference in Newmarket last Wednesday.

Last Thursday evening a showing of war films at St. Andrew's Presbyterian church noted the B.W.V.F. the sum of $15. Rev. R. W. Hilde acted as chairman. Raymond Cook and William Ransome gave a trombone and cornet duet, and solo numbers. Shown at Bogartown the same evening the film raised another $13.32.

AURORANS DEFEAT TORONTO SIX

This Aurora public school double trio won first place at the Peel music festival at Brampton. With a score of 85 points, the Aurora group were five points ahead of the Toronto public schools spring festival winners, who placed second at Brampton. The adjudicator said of the Aurora double trio, trained by Ellyd Harris: "This group achieves well-nigh impeccable blend. Quite moving singing. In all excellent." He added some suggestions for even greater excellence in the rendition of the particular test-piece.

SAYS A.R.P. JOB IS TO SAVE LIVES, INDUSTRY

Lieut. E. Tennant of the Legion of Frontiersmen, Toronto, was the guest speaker at the second of the civilian defence lectures, held in Aurora high school last Thursday evening.

Capt. J. Bentley, originally scheduled to speak here last week, will deliver his lecture on "Enemy Gases" at Richmond Hill.

Lieut. Tennant spoke on "High Explosive Bombs and Structural Defence," and illustrated his lecture with slides on the subject.

"The two big jobs A.R.P. workers have are the saving of lives and the prevention of the paralysis of industry," he said.

"Both are paramount and if we are to win this war we must be prepared to do both." He said how hard it was to determine what should be used as defences against bombing. The only experience available is from the present war, he said, as the tactics of the Great War are now largely obsolete.

"Bombs, too, are always changing, and both sides are making more devastating ones all the time," he stated.

The effect of a bombing to the civilian is much like that of an earthquake and structures built in countries or areas who have experienced earthquakes are those best suited to withstand assault from the air. Concrete and steel construction are the best types.

"Most shelters for large groups of people are not protected, but rather bomb resistant. Under ground shelters, workshops and even factories are being built on the continent and England and are proving fairly effective."

Constant cities, he thought, were the most likely to be attacked by enemy bombers. In which case Toronto would have plenty of warning, but bombing Toronto direct was not "impractical or impossible," he said.

HAS DISTINGUISHED RECORD

Twenty-two year-old Lloyd Chadburn, son of Mrs. Frank Allen of Aurora, and a former student of Aurora high school, is distinguished himself overseas with the R.C.A.F. as one of the youngest Canadian squadron leaders. A recent R.C.A.F. despatch from Scotland tells of his destroying a German E-boat, damaging a destroyer in rushing harbor, and damaging a Junkers plane in a brush with a Nazi pilot off the east coast of England.

Strike Rate At 40 Mills,
Set Up Police Committee

Aurora will have a police committee composed of the mayor and two members of the council, to deal with all police matters.

The mayor, reeve and deputy-revee were chosen as a committee to deal with the appointment on Monday evening. Clerk A. G. A. Willis read a letter from Herbert Armitage, Macell Ave., who complained of the actions of juveniles and asked for "better police protection."

"I have asked the council several times to appoint a committee to help me with these matters," said Mayor Underhill.

"There are always rumors around concerning this or that," said Councillor A. N. Fisher. "Sometimes it is said that there are bootleggers in town. Sometimes it is juveniles. Other times it is the saving of lives and the prevention of the paralysis of industry," he said.

"The trouble is to get people to give you the information needed or to give you full co-operation," said the mayor. "They complain and then won't help you get the necessary evidence."

"There has been some glass broken at the disposal plant and a new paint job has been splattered on the streets by juveniles," said Clerk Willis. "No one will tell us anything about it."

"It has been suggested before that any committee appointed should have a member from outside the council," said Dr. G. A. C. Guntun. "I disagree with that. We were elected by the people to do the job. If we don't do it we can put us out of office."

"I agree," said Councillor Ross Linton. "We should stand on our own feet and deal with the problems ourselves."

Councillor A. N. Fisher brought up the question of parking near corners and on the main street and felt that the council should take some lead in the matter.

"The trouble is the legislation is for the benefit of the merchants and you can't agree among yourselves what you want," said the mayor.

"It is too bad to penalize those who really suffer from the present parking system, because the merchants who have no problems won't support those who do," said Councillor Fred Rowland.

"Let the merchants bring in a recommendation from the majority," said Councillor Guntun. "We can deal with it then."

"I suggest Councillors Fisher and Rowland get 51 percent of the merchants," said the mayor. "Then we'll do something."

The property committee were empowered to engage a dog-catcher to deal with stray dogs. "I have had three complaints today about dogs," said Councillor Rowland. "Something must be done."

The property committee were authorized to spend $30 on the public lavatories in the town park. Residents of Connaught Ave. and Mark St., who last year petitioned the council not to apply dustlayer on their streets, reversed their opinions that year and asked the council to resume the oiling.

"The committee recommend that the request be granted," said the reeve. "It will mean a change in the tax bills, however."

The mill rate was officially struck at 40 mills for the current year. Total receipts were estimated at $64,955.20.

A bill for engineering fees for the sewer project at the Collie Leather Co. was filed by James, Proctor and Redfern and paid, the town's total expense in that connection being $275.

Engage Expert To Solve
Water Problem For Town

With Aurora's water supply fast approaching a balance between flow and consumption, the Aurora town fathers at a meeting on Monday evening agreed unanimously to engage the services of Prof. W. MacLean of the University of Toronto in an effort to obtain an increased water supply. Prof. MacLean will make a survey of the entire situation and the council will be guided by his recommendations.

Waterworks Foreman Al. Langman told the council that in place of a reserve of water usually on hand at this time, "we are running close to the wall." The chief explanation of this, he thought, was the fact that the Collie Leather Co. are using a larger amount of water each day than originally contemplated by the town when they agreed to increase the supply to the tannery. Some days the tannery uses as much as 60,000 gallons, which seriously depletes the existing supply for householders during working hours. In addition, with increased rail traffic and more trains in use the C.N.R. has greatly stepped up their consumption of water, he explained.

"If the tannery could reduce their consumption it would help considerably until we get more water," said Mr. Langman. "The amount paid is a fine revenue for the system but it is leaving us in a bad way for emergencies."

"They are using more than we thought," said Councillor A. A. Cook. "Originally they used about 17,000 a day from us in addition to their own supply. Now they are using because of increased pressure and easier access practically all town water."

"Can the water from their wells be used for town purposes?" asked Deputy-Reeve C. E. Sparks.

"No, it is only suitable for their purposes," said Mr. Langman.

"We should not curtail the use of public utilities by industry," said Councillor Dr. G. A. C. Guntun. "We want more industries and must be prepared to supply them. It's not a question of how many people we can force off the system but of getting to our supply. I have consulted Prof. MacLean of the University of Toronto, an outstanding authority, and he is convinced that there is plenty available. He thinks our own employees can do the necessary work, too, without hiring outside well-diggers."

"There is no question in my mind but that we have plenty of water available if we get it at it," said Mr. Langman. "There is all kinds of water beneath Aurora, but we can't get it tomorrow. We should start at once."

"I am in favor of obtaining Prof. MacLean at once," said the mayor.

"Every municipality seems to have trouble with water. There is no use fooling. The tannery, I think, will help out in curtailing the use of water."

"I would like to see trees planted on the town property right away," said Mr. Cook.

"It is a splendid idea to have the school children do it," said Councillor Guntun. "They do that at Beeton, where they have a splendid supply."

Mr. Langman told the council that he thought it advisable for the town to have a superintendent for town employees to consult on problems. "He should have training of some sort as an engineer," said Mr. Langman. "Perhaps the war will prevent such a plan."

"The question of cost is a big item but the whole subject is one we might think over," said the mayor. "It has a lot of merit."

HOPE TO ELIMINATE
TANNERY CREEK ODOR

Mayor Frank Underhill, Reeve C. A. Malloy, Deputy-Reeve C. E. Sparks, Councillor Dr. G. A. C. Guntun and Town Engineer W. H. Redfern conferred with officials of the Collie Leather Co. and interested parties on Tuesday afternoon on the problem of eliminating odors arising from the tannery creek.

Present were Dr. C. H. Berry of the Ontario department of health, Prof. Joslyn Rogers of the University of Toronto, William West, Dr. J. Hilde, and Mr. Bennett of the Collie Leather Co. and A. V. DeLaPorte, consultant engineer for the tannery.

Last year after conference between interested parties a great deal of experimentation was carried on. The Era understands that new proposals are now being considered and that some new development may be expected shortly.

Donald Rogers, north Yonge St. resident, through his solicitors has requested all parties to take immediate action to solve the problem.

MOTHERS' AUXILIARY WILL ENTERTAIN WOLF CLUBS

The mothers' auxiliary of the Aurora Boy Scouts and Cubs met at the home of Mrs. J. P. Crysdale on Tuesday afternoon, when screens painted with the pack emblems were made for the Cub packs. Tomorrow evening an election of officers of the auxiliary will be held in Trinity parish hall. The Wolf Clubs are being entertained by the mothers on this occasion.

TAKES CASHIER'S POSITION

Mrs. Phyllis Davis has accepted a position as cashier at Knowles' butcher shop.

Home on leave from one of Canada's mine-sweepers is Seaman Arthur Hill of the R.C.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hill of Aurora. Arthur joined the navy last year and this is his first visit home in many months. He has enjoyed a reunion with his brothers, Frank, in the R.C.A.F., and Percy of the R.C.N., Camp Borden.

After leaving Esquimaux, B.C., he was assigned to duty as a fireman and saw service in Pacific waters before his ship made a long trip, winding up at Halifax. The trip was made without any untoward incident.

His mine-sweeping he sails on has been a long and arduous trip and has yet to lose a ship.

"We have been pretty lucky," Arthur told The Era. "Four times our sounding devices have picked up warnings of submarines and we have sunk depth charges. I don't know whether or not we scared them but we have not had any trouble with them."

In Newfoundland he encountered Pte. Ken MacDonald, Aurora boy serving with the Canadian postal corps, and the two exchanged news of home. Food conditions are good and the morale of Canadian seamen is high. Art reports. He will rejoin his ship late this month and meanwhile is enjoying to the full the stay on land. He was a spectator at the high school cadet inspection and was warm in his praises of the corps' efficiency. He also attended the cadet dance, where he was busy renewing acquaintances.

Jim Elmsley, Clayton Videa and Bob Benville are other former Aurora boys serving with the all-ant service.

DOWN THE CENTRE

Lieut. D. K. Matheson, sports officer at Newmarket camp, phoned the writer last week to advise us that if a York-Simcoe softball league exists this season, Newmarket Camp will be a sure pop entry. This was good news, to say the least, and the Camp was represented at the hardball meeting held in canal town last week.

Wes Niles is still at the Camp and the softball team will be built around him. Lieut. Matheson will be remembered as a former Varsity athlete. Last winter he played the odd game with the Camp's hockey team. Looks as tho' softball will survive. If a fourth entry could be secured that long trip to the oasis of Barrie would be averted and a whole lot of gas saved. Barrie, we admit, is attractive competition but a compact district loop is more to be desired.

Del Beaumont, the hockey season over, is doing his bit on the farm this summer and he is a good worker too. Del is just 18 and can be counted on as one of the junior "finds" of next season. Don Hamilton, also in the 18-year-old class, has joined the reserve battalion of the 48th Highlanders. He would like to play softball this season with Aurora and the same lad is said to be pretty handy both at bat and field.

Marj. McCann, in case you didn't notice, wound up the season as a member of the Canadian intermediate basketball champions, the Carlton Street United team, coached by the cagey Fred Bibby. The girls played the finals in Montreal and are still talking about the swell trip they had. There are no competitors from the west in this series, so the eastern Canada winners take the whole crown. No less than four members of the famous Volunteers, the Toronto girls all-star basketball team, were in the lineup of the Carltons so you can tell that the Newmarket girl has not been doing too badly. They play boys' rules, which is a far cry from the girls' game Marj. learned at Newmarket high.

Ron Allison, the Mount Albert softball, has joined the reserve battalion of the Queen's Yorks, and there is still plenty of room for lads who do not fall in the active service categories. The past week has seen about 20 fellows join the Yorks, so if you're not in uniform or wearing one of the tri-color reserve unit badges it's your own fault.

Charlie Smith says Ten to Ace is a certainty for the King's Plate and the odds are getting shorter all the time. Last week the coll went six furlongs in 1:15 2/5, which is pretty fast stepping in any league. Smith says: "It's not a question of will he win but by how many lengths." There are those who feel, however, the odds are being rushed too fast in training and may be a bit late when the horses go to the post. Cossack Post, the Hatch entry, should not be overlooked.

Horse racing is rapidly coming to the fore in York county and more and more stables are being established here. Besides George Cosford's Aurora stables and the stables owned by the Davies at Thornhill there are many more establishments and small owners. Frank Schelke has a big plant at Gormley just back of the Summit Golf club and he has two plate entries, which may or may not go to the post. Sheperton ran the six furlongs only three-fifths slower than the Ace a few days ago. The other entry is named plain "Schelke" after its owner.

Frank Selke, no relation to Schelke but frequently in racing circles mistaken for him, has a lovely spot a mile below King and slightly west, called King's Ridge farm. Frank is the big man at Maple Leaf gardens now that Connie Smythe is away on active service and is doing a good job too. Air Sure, one of Smythe's few remaining nags, is being looked after by Selke this year and will race with his string. Selke incidentally, was responsible for Del Beaumont originally playing hockey here.

Dr. Ross Wesley of Thornhill, who played soccer for both Newmarket and Richmond Hill high schools and has been breeding hunters the past few years, this year enters the faster circles and has a promising two-year-old called Royal Patsy, a chestnut daughter of Stand Fast and Royal Bouquet. The veteran Hughie Gallagher is handling the filly. Charlie Hemstead of Markham, C. George McCullagh at Thornhill, and close to Toronto many more devotees of the sport of kings have racing plants of various sizes and descriptions. No more and more north Yorks getting like the blue grass country.

Saint Sledwi is a patron saint of whom we had never heard until last week, and we bet many of our R.C. friends hadn't either. Well, Saint Sledwi is the patron saint of hockey and ice-skating. In 1936 the first real authentic story of ice skating is recorded. A young woman in Schiedam, Holland, seriously injured while skating, lived so patient and beautiful a life she was canonized as Sledwi. This gives skating and its outgrowth sports the only patron saint.

Hockey gets its name from the French word "hoquet" and, believe it or not, authorities are of the opinion the game in various forms was first played in Europe and Asia. Kingston and Halifax were the first Canadian centres where the game was played. Eighteen fifty-five marks the first hockey played in Kingston, by the Royal Canadian Rifles. Archives and old papers available would have it appear the troops in Canada from 1783 to 1855 played hockey, for there is indisputable proof that the men and officers as far back as 1783 were expert skaters and participated in field hockey. Relics of the first games at Kingston are on display at the athletic offices of Queen's University, and, as we recall it, the sticks were imported from England. Looked like indoor polo mallets and cost four shillings each. The first organized hockey was played in Kingston in 1885-6 and the four teams there provided the nucleus for the O.H.A. organized in 1890.

Bill Hewitt, secretary of the O.H.A., was responsible for nets being introduced to the game. It was not until 1899 in Montreal that nets were first used. Hewitt at that time was sporting editor of the Montreal Herald. This is a fact not generally known or appreciated. So much for hockey antiquities.

Budley Wilson, the former Aurora high school athlete who made such a fine showing in international track competition a few weeks ago, left last week for Timmins, where he will muck ore until university opens again in the fall.

Bill Wilson, the former Aurora hockey player, looks pretty nifty in his sailor suit. These bow-tie trousers are sure make sweet William a regular Beau Brummell. Bill is at exhibition park and will play hardball for the tars this season. Unknown to most sport fans in these parts Bill was regular second baseman for a mining team in the northern senior league last year. Loss of Hanberry and Mike Miller to the R.C.A.F. Allan cup winners, was the blow that spoiled defeat for Bill's hockey team this winter.

Ralph Parkinson, who performed for Markham intermediates the past season, is another athlete who will sail the briny. Ralph, a soft-baller of repute, will play for the navy softballers at Davisville this year.

I. C. Morrison, in extending an invitation to Aurora to put a team in the Newmarket hardball league, meant it to mean that Aurora would play half of their schedule at Aurora. In other words, home and home games with each of the Newmarket teams. We mention this because some interest has been shown locally, but the majority who mentioned it thought Aurora would have to play all games in Newmarket. With this point cleared away, there's still time for an entry from Aurora.

Charlie Rowntree left as per schedule for the simple country life last week, but before he left a gang headed by Jack Henderson, Gordy Stout and others held a stag for the fast boy. The lads presented "Chuck" and "Morn" with a handsome clock and, for once in his life Charlie was tongue-tied. He asked us to say thanks 1,000,000 to the crowd who chipped in. The only thing that was wrong with the event was that the boys got the affair ready in a hurry, and many who would have liked to attend were hooked for other engagements or weren't contacted. However, for those who weren't there Charlie pretty well understands and knows he leaves the old diggings with warm spots held for him in the hearts of hundreds. How's your pulse? Well, normal pulse beat is 72 per minute and the are surprised to learn that all the big middle-distance runners and quite a few prominent athletes are in the "low-heartbeat" class. A friend of ours in Toronto, a medical professional and a former athlete, told us this last week. Pavo Nurmi, the great Finnish runner, is medically attested at 47. Glenn Cunningham, 42, and the new sensational American miler, Les MacMillan, goes down to 38. All these fellows possess odious of stamina and durability. Several of the big hockey stars are in the same boat, so if your pulse is low, maybe you're a potential champ incognito. However, these lads are the early bird rule, and if your pulse isn't normal unless it's a feline one, you'd better ask about it. The explanation? Well, when it comes to getting a physical to put his jargon into ordinary lingo, you can guess we can't really tell you why.

Boy ("Mut") Collage, the former captain of Aurora juniors, is home in Bradford on sick leave. Roy suffered an injury about six months ago and after being as far as Halifax was sent home to recuperate. His host of friends hope the ailment will soon pass.

Gordon Dawson, former battery mate at Cookstown of Harry Cous, and well known South Simcoe baller and hockeyist, was among those who received wings at Dufour, Manitoba, recently. Gordy is now Sgt. Phil. Last year he was a member of the softball team that represented the R.C.A.F. in the service league in Toronto.

Johnny O'Mahoney, second baseman for the Aurora softball club, left last week to train as a radio technician with the R.C.A.F. Having been from Simcoe, Johnny played acceptably ball for Aurora last year, altho' not a heavy hitter. He was dependable in the field and this year probably would have developed into a topflight performer. Add a pitcher of average ability to the following lads and you could field a pretty fair softball team from the following former Aurora players: Ace Yake, Bill Buchanan, Wilf White, Ray White, Bill Muford, Grant Cook, Harry Pearce, Frank Mechanik, Bruce Browning, Bob Bond, "Buck" Hayes, Cy. Holman, Dick Sutton, "Nip" Armstrong and O'Mahoney. Another is the only hurler in the lot but "Wild Bill" was an apt nomiker when he was toting the rubber.

Orangeville Juniors took junior C honors from Aurora back in the season of 1937-38 by a cat's whisker and of the 13 lads who made up that bunch of gamecocks no less than eight are now on active service. One of the boys, Wilfred Leach, has been commissioned, and Doug, Gillespie, was with the big 400th bomber group. Condie Smythe's 30th battery and headed up from the ranks for bigger and better things. Orangeville, who won the juvenile B honors the past season, have the nucleus of another junior championship squad if they can hold the boys together, but already some of the biggest catches have reached out with tentacles for the Gillespie brothers and young Hoare, who were the potent marksmen on this year's team. The town council in the Dufferin county capital gave the kids a swell banquet and windbreakers for their winning effort. It was worth it too. Too bad the local fans couldn't have done something for this year's Aurora. The ledger shows red ink again.

Anson Gilbert, high school sprint champ, basketball and hockeyist, left today to join the air force. He has just turned 18 and joins the fast mounting list of secondary school lads who are putting away textbooks for the duration.

"Pep" Kelly, the former Newmarket speed demon, who has played for Leafs, Black Hawks, Americans, Springfield and Buffs, also in eight years in pro hockey, is now located in St. Catharines and has announced that provided all the minor pro clubs waive him he will apply for his amateur card and play senior O.H.A. with St. Catharines. That shouldn't be so hard because Regis is past his prime now, although his official birth certificate makes him only 28. He never lived up to the promise he showed as an amateur, probably because of his size, and the fact that he lingered with the Leafs too long and became a bit indifferent at times. He has plenty of good amateur hockey left in him and if he gets his card will fit in fine with Jimmy Fowler's speedsters. Kelly had the distinction, along with Don Willson, of playing on two dominion champs in two consecutive seasons.

Fredie McLeod, the popular district softball umpire, joined the ranks of the benedicts this month. Fredie went to the altar with Miss Margaret Doris Chase of Sharon. This debutant Fred will still be available for softball engagements provided they aren't too far away from the McLeod fireside. Etobicoke Indians held a gala evening in Telington school on Tuesday night. There was fun for the bantams and midgets and dancing for the juveniles and juniors. The Cokes went in the red ink this year, but Murray Scruton, the old mastermind, dug up the funds from the good sports of the district to sweeten up a disappointing season so far as wins and gates went, but of course not so far as good fun and hectic moments for the old memory book. Now it's lacrosse for the Indians and they have a fast young team ready to go to the wars with their tomahawks and gutted sticks.

St. Andrew's swimmers finished as runners-up in the Little Big Four swim meet at Hart House pool on Saturday. Sabiston of St. Andrew's, who is also a color man at rugby and hockey, annexed both the 200-yard free style and the 400-yard freestyle. His win in the 200 was especially good, as he downed his teammate, Robertson, who was a member of the West Indies team in the last British empire games. Robertson won the 100-yard free style in the last time of 67.0. St. Andrew's took the relay event too. Hilroy College finished first with 57 points, while St. Andrew's had 53 to make it close. The other schools trailed badly.

Gordy Wright, who pitched many a softball tournament in these parts as a "ringer" for one of the rural teams, has joined the navy and is pitching them over for the U.S. Navy. Gordy now Wright of course last year won fame in the French league but for several years, like many other Toronto stars, he would sneak out to the alleys to pick up a few bucks with ease. Sutton Greenhills were banqueting in Sutton United church Friday night with practically the entire village to hand to cheer the boys. Jack Shihnd and Bill Pugsley were masters of ceremonies and a mighty roar went up when Secretary W. A. Hewitt presented the John Ross Robertson cup. Each player received a gold medal from the O.H.A. too. It was the first title ever to come to Sutton and you can have a gander at the cup this week in Shihnd's window. The players received windbreakers from the fans and pictures will be presented later. Joe Spilletto received a round of applause as he added his vocal tribute to the Sutton lads. The banquet was a super, the speeches were short, entertainment good and the dance which followed a regular jam session. Jack Culverwell delivered a long speech on behalf of the players. The club officials received some special awards.

"Joint" McComb, the team's leading marksman, was the only player not at the dinner, illness in the immediate family keeping the Joiner at home. He was not forgotten by his teammates nor the fans. The gathering was one of the best ever staged in North York and those who were in attendance are still talking about it. The club didn't make any money over the season even tho' they did win the title but the players and executive had plenty of fun and those after-the-gamne sessions were really something.

Thurforth Aces, as we write "30" to this week's column have a goal lead in the King Clancy T.H.L. junior finals. This is the longest hockey season on record, and Hamilton, Beaumont, Tunbridge and company sure deserve a title for courage in carrying on as well as for ability.

If you can postpone buying that new something which you want until after the war you will contribute to the war effort. If it is something you must have, look for or advertise for a used one before buying a new one. You will thus help your country to do now when factories have too much to do and you will help your country after the war when factories may not have enough to do.

"Hitler would just love to see how smart you look!"

"Yes, you're smart... or are you? I thought I was smart too, back in the 20's. Then the depression came and taught me a lesson!"

"We'd be a lot smarter if we put less of our money into our own outfits and more of it into the outfits of the boys who are defending us. How? By pledging ourselves to do without so that they may have plenty to do with!"

"You want them to win, don't you? Well then, buy War Savings Stamps every week... That's how you can help them. Besides, by saving, you'll help keep prices down and have something for a rainy day. Let's be really smart!"

Buy War Savings Stamps from banks, post offices, drugists, grocers and other retail stores.

WHEN MATRON SPEAKS... WE LISTEN!

1. Matron knew I was feeling low. When I drooped in her lecture she fixed me with a hawklike eye. "Listless people are not encouraged here," she said coldly, "they learn to crawl internal sluggishness by eating POST'S Bran Flakes—the delicious cereal with three benefits."

2. I saw her go to the dietitian's office. "Post's Bran Flakes every day," she ordered—"as a cereal or in muffins. The recipe's on the package. Mind—I insist on POST'S. They contain enough bran for gentle action, provide useful amounts of iron and phosphorus and the flavor's delicious."

3. Not a single prebabe has anything on me now for alertness and energy. "Girls," I chirped at breakfast this morning, "What is the simply scrumptious tasting cereal that makes absolutely delicious bran muffins?" "POST'S Bran Flakes," they yelled in unison.

Get them for 3 important benefits:

1. A natural regulator which helps prevent constipation due to lack of bulk in the diet.
2. Useful quantities of iron for the blood and phosphorus for the bones and teeth.
3. Crisp, golden flakes—full of delicious, taste-tempting flavor and so good for you, too.

subdivision for the village of Ansoreld and the Holland Marsh drainage area, at the regular meeting of the council, held on Saturday at Schomberg.
Reeve Thos. MacMurchy was in the chair and all members were present.

The motion, moved by Councillor E. M. Legge and seconded by Councillor W. E. Barker, stated that the Ansoreld area would have upwards of 200 voters this year and that if left as part of the Glenville subdivision the latter subdivision would have more voters than provided for by statute.

Reeve MacMurchy was authorized to take any necessary steps in the organization of the King

The council authorized completion of the deed for Lot N.P., and Lot 8, Con. 3 (O.S.), lying west and north of the drainage canal, to C. L. McKinnon, who purchased them from the township and paid $5,321.64.

The township will pay to S.S. 19, $3 received from the provincial department of health as a grant for dental services.

The township will advertise for tenders for the sale of debentures for King township's share of the dredging of the Holland river in the Holland

Danger! Liver
Trouble is Serious

Are you nervous and irritable — can't sleep or eat — tired out all the time? If you're like that, a healthy liver is possibly your only hope. Liver trouble is health may be the cost!

© Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. It unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes debilitated — painful rim discomfort. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop — you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous trouble and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-sachy, backachy, dizzy, tired out — a ready prey for sickness and disaster.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with Improved Fruit-A-Lives Liver Tablets. The liver is taxed up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results.
Today "Improved Fruit-A-Lives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good!
Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-A-Lives" put you back on the road to lasting health — feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

MOVIES PARADE

A thundering epic of heroic adventure, Columbia's "Texas" has been enthusiastically hailed by Hollywood preview audiences as "all the great action pictures you've ever dreamed of... rolled into one!" William Holden, Claire Trevor and Glenn Ford are starred in the suspense-packed new film, said to be compounded of hair-trigger gun fights, spectacular stampedes, frontier feuds, flaming passions and the many other vivid and colorful features of the great Southwest.

In the cast, supporting the star triumvirate, are George Bancroft, Edgar Buchanan, Don Heidico, and Willard Robertson.

"Texas" is the story of the early West, of Texas shortly after the Civil War, when the Kansas Pacific Railroad had been pushed through as far as Abilene, Kansas, and was intended to serve as the shipping point for range-bound cattle to feed the hoof-hungry markets of the North and the East. But Indian raids and outlaw depredations combined to keep Texas longhorns out of Kansas.

On the same program the Strand presents the two kings of comedy, Laurel and Hardy, in "The Flying Deuces."

Bringing together the formidable starring combination of Bob Hope, Vera Zorina and Victor Moore, Paramount's Technicolor production of the Broadway smash comedy musical, "Louisiana Purchase," comes Monday to the screen of the Strand Theatre, with all the fanfare that rightfully accompanies a film of this importance.

As a long-run stage show, it dazzled audiences on Broadway and all over this country with its spectacle of beauty on parade, its music infused with the genius of Irving Berlin and its hilarious story of political naughtiness in New Orleans. The incomparable Zorina, a dancer of breathtaking loveliness and an actress of equally agile accomplishment, and Victor Moore, who stirs audiences to howls of laughter when his fluidly gives way to sudden Honk-like courage, were in the original stage version, and occupy their same roles in the film version.

Which is a good thing, for each is suited perfectly for the part portrayed.

As the gullest catspaw for a ring of tricky politicians, Bob Hope could hardly be seen to better advantage. The role is just up his alley, the kind of thing he does best, and with it his popularity ought to soar even higher than it is now.

Ronald Reagan, the young actor who made screen history as George Gyp in "Knute Rockne—All American," has the starring role in "International Squadron" and heading the large featuring supporting cast are Olympe Bradna, William Lundigan, Reginald Denny and Joan Perry.

Hailed by audiences who have previewed the film in Hollywood as the first great motion picture of the R.A.F.'s international squadron, the adventure film begins its local engagement on Friday.

Access from every quarter of the globe make up the international squadron, most colorful fighting unit of the Royal Air Force. Men from France, Holland, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Norway and other conquered nations nightly risk their lives in the gallant fight that they hope will some day free their homelands. Their skill and during have amazed the world, and now their heroic adventures in the sky have been immortalized in a screen story that literally provides its audiences with a thrill a minute.

For the first time in a feature length picture, the American public will see the bombing of London, life inside a bomb shelter, the operational control room which is the nerve centre of the Royal Air Force, and Spitfires in active combat with Messerschmitts.

FARM FORUM

By MAE HARMAN

That women are eager to take their place in the farm movement was clearly demonstrated by their attendance at the recent annual meeting of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture and their spirited discussion concerning just what part they might play in that organization. Even the men admitted that women had a contribution to make and seemed pleased to grant them representation both on the provincial board and on the executive.

No indeed, the women did not want to form a special organization of their own. They wanted to come into the movement with the men and the young people on a sort of family basis. They would be willing to consider economic problems and in return Dad would have to take an interest in social problems. Agnes Macphail said that this proved that women had at last grown up.

In order to serve agriculture, any movement must be indeed mindful of social problems. Women will be sure to stress the need for better health conditions for their families, a better education for their children, and the building of a finer community and even a finer world in which to live.

Women have no small interest in the economic side of farming. Now especially, in wartime, many are finding it necessary to pitch in and do much of the hard work about the farm itself, as well as caring for their homes and families. Farming at any time is on a partnership basis and the farmer's wife has just as much interest in how the grain turns out and whether the hired man (if you can get one) is earning his wages as has the farmer himself. If the returns are few the farm woman will have to figure out ways and means of patching up the old clothes and making that 12-year-old wallpaper do another year or perhaps put off the purchase of a furnace or the installation of Hydro till another time.

Women can inspire that "homey" atmosphere too. Miss Ethel Chapman, a prominent writer and speaker with a keen interest in rural life, says: "It is good to find women taking an active part in these study groups. In fact, I think women have an important place in the whole program. They can get their husbands out when, after a stiff day's work out-of-doors and a good supper, the men would like nothing so much as to go to sleep. Women can give an atmosphere of hospitality and friendliness to the place of meeting, whether it be a home or a schoolhouse."

Women will want the discussions to lead to action, but they will be inclined to lend a steady touch and be unwilling to make hasty decisions. Once they are convinced of the wisdom of action, they will be enthusiastic campaigners and will inspire confidence and co-operation.
